

Let's hear it for your voice.

World Voice Day Celebration 2009

Learn how to make your voice last a lifetime.

Sunday, April 5, Noon–5 p.m.

Renaissance Raleigh Hotel at North Hills
4100 Main at North Hills Street
Raleigh, North Carolina

Featuring:

- Information on how to care for your voice, with special tips for singers and other vocal performers, teachers, and clergy
- Interactive acoustic voice analysis
- Demonstration of video laryngeal imaging
- Drawing for free tickets to North Carolina Symphony concerts, North Carolina Theatre productions, and more!

Special events include:

- Performance by vocalist Lois Deloatch
- Panel discussion with voice experts, including Grant Llewellyn, Lois Deloatch, Metropolitan Opera baritone William Stone, former host of Good Morning America David Hartman, American Public Media's The Story host Dick Gordon, John Dancy, and others
- Educational session on how the voice works, preventive vocal care, and effective treatment options for voice disorders by the Duke team of otolaryngologists, speech pathologists, and singing-voice specialist

Free admission. Refreshments provided. Space is limited; call 1-888-ASK-DUKE to register today.

Duke Voice Care Center

Where Everyone Has a Voice

Duke Raleigh Hospital

DUKE UNIVERSITY HEALTH SYSTEM